

Olga Pechanova is a director of Centre of Experimental Medicine, Slovak Academy of Sciences (CEM SAS) and president of International Society of Pathophysiology. She has 30-year experiences in the cardiovascular research and development of medications aimed to treat hypertension and cardiovascular consequences. Her study is focused on the analysis of imbalance in the production of nitric oxide (NO) and reactive oxygen species (ROS) in different models of cardiovascular and metabolic disorders. Olga Pechanova has authored about 150 impacted manuscripts, 1 patent, and she is co-author of several monographs, H-index 35. Olga Pechanova also teaches at Faculty of Natural Sciences and Medical Faculty, Comenius University, Bratislava.